

A Timely Warning

FIRES ARE A MAJOR MENACE to life and property and there are serious losses in Canada each year from this cause. Most of the large fires occur in the winter time, for many of them are caused by over-heated pipes or stoves, or from faulty heating equipment, in many cases the defective parts are caused by the use of the wrong type of insulation, when stoves and furnaces are not in use, is the time in which to put them in repair and to check chimneys and pipes for possible weaknesses. H. E. Puttee, Fire Commissioner for the Province of Manitoba, in a recent article on "How to Avoid Fires in Buildings" says that "defective and over-heated chimneys are one of the chief causes of fires in buildings."

Chimney May Be Defective
Mr. Puttee emphasizes that care should be taken to make chimneys safe, even though it may mean making major repairs or even replacing them. He advises against the use of stoves or other sources of heat too close to a ceiling or other inflammable object. If the source of heat cannot be moved, insulation is advised and it is pointed out that there must be an air space between the tin or other insulating material and the surface which it is protecting. There is also danger from defective electrical installations and these too should be fully checked and repaired regularly.

Would Save Annual Loss
Another frequent source of fires is accumulations of rubbish in basements or sheds, which are often set ablaze by careless smokers, the presence of hot ashes and the storage of matches, cigarette papers, and other causes. Canada's annual bill for property lost due to fire is very high and in addition there is an annual toll of human lives from fires throughout the country. If householders and property owners would make sure that heating systems and electrical installations were in good order and would remove accumulations of waste paper and other combustible materials from their property, there would be fewer fires, and fewer lives lost from that cause each year in Canada.

POISON IVY--RECOGNIZE AND AVOID IT . . .

CAN YOU RECOGNIZE IT? — It's not much good getting irritated about poison ivy after it has irritated you. It's much better to recognize the plant before. Poison ivy is the only Canadian plant with a three-part leaf, which is why it doesn't grow in the United States. It has five-petaled leaves and blue fruit. Poison ivy grows almost anywhere and as a single plant, in patches, or as a trailing or climbing vine. So be on the lookout for it in woods, along roads, and in gardens, and give it wide berth! —(Canada Department of Agriculture photo).

Among the out-of-doors annoyances, Canadian poison ivy, bladdernuts and poison ivy rank second. But while it is almost impossible to avoid mosquitos and black fly bites, it is quite possible to avoid poison ivy. If you learn to recognize the plant, though it grows in the same areas as poison ivy, through the year, it is most useful in the spring and summer, when you are on holiday and picnics. The cautious holiday maker will keep his eyes skinned around lakes and wooded areas, and along roadsides and in rocky places, for poison ivy will grow almost anywhere. And keep your dog away from it. Not only will your dog get away from it, but he can carry poison ivy to you.

Poison ivy is the only native Canadian plant with a three-part leaf and white fruit, and to the discomfort of many, is frequently confused with Virginia creeper, which has five-petaled leaves and blue fruit. The constant character of poison ivy is that the leaves are arranged alternately on the stem, while Virginia creeper is composed of three leaflets. The leaflets vary in shape, texture and color, and the margin may be serrated or wavy, or smooth.

In the spring its unfolding crinkly leaves are noticeably reddish, later becoming yellowish and then a surface. Often in the spring some of the yellowish to brownish colored fruit from the previous year are seen on the leafless stems.

In early summer, sprays of small inconspicuous whitish flowers appear in the axils of the leaflets, usually following small clusters of small, low fruits about the size and hardness of peas. With autumn comes the red, then orange, then yellow, then, but with the cool frosty nights they curl and turn brown. As the leaves dry, the fruit becomes more reddish and then brownish, and the summer green-yellow color to a white and waxy appearance.

If you come in contact with poison ivy, immediate washing of the affected parts with laundry soap and warm water is often sufficient treatment, depending upon how suscepti-

PUP IS MOM TO GOSLING—Tallulah, year-old cocker spaniel, cuddles up to her new baby, a fluffy, downy gosling, which she found at home of Miss Charlotte Essman. The sad-eyed pup recently mothered another gosling but this first feathered chick was smothered when the pup attempted to protect it from other dogs.

Funny and Otherwise

First: "The touch of the nurse's hand cooled my fever instantly."

Second: "Yeah, we heard the ship all out."

Mary: "Did anybody telephone while I was out?"

Wife: "No, I couldn't make out the name. To be on the safe side I said you would let him have something on the way tomorrow."

"I hear you had a good win at the poker night."

Wife: "I'm going to my wife. She hardly put a foot wrong all evening."

He: "I had no time for his brother-in-law, and was always threatening him. At last his wife took him to talk. 'Tell him to come back to talk like that. You know it will cost you $50.00 if you touch him.'"

Wife: "I'm going to my husband and he hadn't mentioned the name of his brother-in-law, once his wife expressed her pleasure. 'So you've given me the idea of hitting my brother-in-law?'"

"Given up?" he snorted. "I'm saving up!"

Guide: "This is a Roman wall standing in A.D. 1000."

Brother: "I'm a site: 'Lor, Joe, that's the sort of firm to work for!'"

Brown was talking to some friends about a fishing trip he was complaining. "Are there many trout up there?" asked one of the friends.

"Trout? There are 'em," replied the other, enthusiastically.

"Will they bite easily?"

"Will they?" said Brown. "Why, they're absolutely vicious. A man has to stand behind a tree to bait his hook!"

"You don't say," said the other, "I've never had that expensive place in the High Street to have your photograph taken?"

"So you don't," said they, take marvelous photographs. Mollie went there and you couldn't recognize her!"

Policeman: (arresting Coed for speeding) Didn't you see me wave at you?"

Co-ed: "Yes, but I never respond to flirtations."

Don't Hide Under Tree During Storm

Figures compiled by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show that one-third of all persons killed in the United States by lightning were struck while seeking shelter under trees.

Lightning kills 400 persons a year. Other hazards during a lightning storm are being in a small boat, being near swimming or being on a broad plain.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

"DILEMMA"

By RUSSELL WILSEY

The 'Pretty Waitress' Smile
Unveiled Mr. Saxy

IT WAS a dilemma, the sort of situation Mr. Saxy would have taken great pains to avoid, had he known it was coming.

It was Jane's fault, really, he thought as the subway rumbled beneath the city. If his wife hadn't insisted on that new topcoat she never would have been seen, was never for him to mistake one like it in the restaurant.

"Forget, forget, Edward," that coat had said, "you get that coat this morning, before it turns chilly. I don't want to fret over your colds and whooping cough."

And so when Frankings, the outside salesman, had phoned in that he would be late, and it had been upon Mr. Saxy to make the decision, he had long tramped up town to see about an order. Mr. Saxy had bought the coat at the first store he found.

The coat was a half size too large.

Mr. Saxy had bolted through the door. The bulky object in the deep pocket of the coat had been Jane's coat. It had been his own banded against his leg. His feeling of terror returned.

Mr. Saxy had caused the restaurant to close, and touched the object.

His fingers had been too tight.

He had not noticed it until he was trying to get back after all," she said, smiling.

"Yes, well . . . you see . . ." Mr. Saxy had been confused. He began to walk away.

"I thought you were back," she went on. "The other man didn't notice me taking his coat until you were gone."

"That's it," Mr. Saxy mumbled, "but there's something I have to explain."

Suddenly, having the pretty waitress smiling up into his face completely removed Mr. Saxy.

He had to turn, to get out, but it was too late. The waitress was hurrying toward him.

"Wait, wait, back after all," she said, smiling.

Mr. Saxy hadn't studied it closely. His eyes had blazed at the sight of it. All he had to do was to put it back into the pocket. No one in the subway care seemed to have noticed it. For that Mr. Saxy was thankful.

He did know it was heavy and shiny.

The dilemma, the situation, Mr. Saxy had asked himself. Certainly not a policeman. That police had his hat. And also, he had seen the police always carried them in their shoulder bags. And he had this coat. Only one certain type of person carried one in his pocket!

But what could he do? Suppose he walked up to the policeman on the corner, pulled out the gun, and said,

BRITISH TRAILER HAS UPSTAIRS

LONDON—Permanent home on wheels has come as a trail to Canada—have solved the living problems of more than 300,000 people in Britain. The current independent public display of the Caravan Residential Association shows just what can be done with these mobile homes.

Most of the features of a permanent home, such as glass wool insulation, built-in kitchens and bathrooms, hot and cold water systems and central heating.

But among the new types on view here are two-story caravans. One has two bedrooms upstairs with a central "upstairs" entrance hall.

Modern mechanized equipment has made "muscle-farming" out-of-date

Do it with machines—not with muscles—is the modern concept of farm operation. The work can be done easier, quicker, better, and at less cost the machine way—and there is less worry and less expense when you use machine help instead of inexperienced and costly labor. No man who has experienced the many advantages of operating with modern equipment would want to go back to the days of "muscle-farming."

Some of the greatest advances in mechanization in the history of agriculture have been made in recent years. Your Massey-Harris local dealer will be glad to give you full details of the complete line of Massey-Harris modern farm machines.

TOWN & District

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Broz of Coutts are spending a few days in town, holidaying at the home of the latter's parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Allen are staying at the home of Mr. T. W. and Miss Ethel Bates. Mr. Allen is a graduate of Cambridge University and Princeton University, New Jersey. Mrs. Allen is a cousin of Miss Ethel Bates and a niece of the late Mr. T. W. Bates, both natives of Coutts. They are returning to Cambridge in September where Mr. Allen will do research work. They took in the Calgary Stampede last week and thought it was wonderful.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ritchie of Parry Sound, Ont., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ferguson. Mr. Ritchie is station agent at Parry Sound.

PICNIC NOTIONS

On hot summer days one should plan meals with an eye on the weather. If the family is lathes and appetites wane in the heat, why not move them outdoors at meal time? It is surprising how fresh and the flavor of the food is enhanced when you park up fanned appetites. If it is convenient, jump out to a favorite picnic spot; but the backyard will do. If there is a fire, the family will be no problem. Make a barbecue using a wire grill or plain wire rack set on two stones. Young broilers, about two pounds dressed weight, are delicious split in half or quartered and grilled directly over the coals or charcoal briquettes like broiled lamb may be used. The pieces may be brushed with fat or sauce and grilled slowly until tender. Spare ribs, chops, luncheon meats and sausages may also be grilled similarly.

It is not necessary to have a fire, however, to enjoy delicious chicken or sausage. Chicken in a basket is a wonderful way to serve a chicken. This intriguing sounding dish is really delicious. Cut the chicken into broiled, fried chicken and may be served either hot or cold. The name started when a restaurant specializing in chicken dishes observed that many of its patrons preferred to pick up the chicken pieces and eat them. It decided to make this a regular practice and served the chicken attractively piled in baskets, without forks. It was so popular that this method of serving became general accepted. Today, the chicken is ready to cook out-of-a-paper package. Wipe and coat with seasoned flour or egg and crumbs, then fry in one-half inch of hot fat allowing about five minutes for each side. Cover and allow to cook for about 30 minutes until tender. Serve with fresh green salad.

Sausage rolls are another cold picnic dish that are sure to please. They are made by rolling strips of strips of pastry, one lengthwise of another, around small pork sausages which have been parboiled for about five minutes. These rolls are then baked for about thirty minutes.

A chicken salad is always good picnic fare. It is filling and pleasant to eat. It can be made ahead of time so that there is no need for that last minute rush and is easy to handle. The secret is, it can be made from scratch which is in good supply right now and is less expensive than many other meats.

One favorite picnic in the picnic line is eggs—other foods come and go in picnic popularity, but eggs are standard fare in every outing. They can be used as a delicious filling for sandwiches, to add extra food value to light salads or they may be used as a filling for omelets or fritters. In any case, they are always hard-cooked for picnics and it is important that they be cooked thoroughly. All too often the term "hard-cooked" is replaced by "hard-boiled" and as a result the eggs are completely dried out.

The home economists tell us that eggs should never be boiled.

They should be cooked slowly in water just below the boiling point, allowing the water to simmer around them.

Of course no one wants to have eggs with dark rings around them so cook them immediately in cold water as soon as they are cooked. This will make them peel easier too.

What is Your Blood Group

After giving a blood donation each donor is sent a blood donor card for his own personal information and protection, and on which each additional donation is entered. These cards are colored as to each individual group "O", "A", "B" and "AB"; positive or negative.

Donor buttons or pins are presented to voluntary donors by the Canadian Red Cross.

3rd donation: a bronze button trimmed with blue and red enamel.

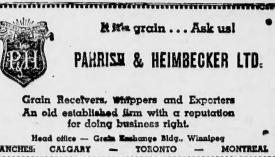

6th donation: a silver button also trimmed with blue and red enamel.

10th donation: a gold button trimmed with a red cross on a white shield.

11th donation: a gold maple leaf trimmed with a red cross on a white base.

WARTIME DONATIONS ARE ALSO CREDITED TOWARD THESE AWARDS

Do let the registrar at the clinic know how many previous donations you have given.
